REGISTRATION OF OPERATORS IN DIWASS

General information

1. Country name

Italy

Identification and registration numbers

2. Main identification number for operators in DIWASS

As specified by DIWASS Implementing act, the main identification number for operators should be EORI number.

However, not all the operators are obligated to have an EORI number.

In view of that, please specify what type of number should be used as main identification number by operators that have a registered office in the territory of your MS.

When doing so, please take into account that:

- definition of "operator" covers all types of companies as well as individuals conducting business activity and natural persons not conducting business activity,
- the "site" of the operator should have the same main registration number as the "operator".

Please fill the table below, specifying what type of main identification number should be chosen, depending on the type of operator

	Main identification number (name)	Type of operator (e.g. limited liability company, individual conducting business activity)	Comment
1	EORI number	companies
2	VAT number	companies	to be provided by companies that do not have EORI number
3	TIN	natural person or companies	to be provided by a natural person or companies that do not have VAT number

3. Additional identification numbers

Member States may require that operators having a registered office in their territory provide also other identification numbers when registering in DIWASS.

Do you require that operators having a registered office in the territory of your MS provide an additional identification number when registering in DIWASS?

- yes
- no

If such additional registration number is required, please specify the type of the identification number.

4. Registration numbers

When a user creates an operator, it can select in the field "identification numbers" the label called "Registration number". Providing information on such number is mandatory for EU operators.

Please fill the table below, specifying what type of registration number should be chosen, depending on the type of operator.
